

Absolute voltage difference per node between before and after conversion (sum of all phases)

